EXPRESSJET FLIGHT ATTENDANTS
SELF NOTIFICATION CLARIFICATION

---

As you saw yesterday, the company has added the self notification option to ExpressJet flight attendants' schedules whenever there is a schedule change. However, the company's announcement did not address the fact that the use of this option is entirely voluntary.

We want our members to know that we have a commitment, in writing, from Brandee Reynolds that states:

This letter will serve as clarification that the self notification feature with the Sked Plus system may be voluntarily used by a Flight Attendant to self notify of any schedule change. A Flight Attendant will not be required to self notify nor will a Flight Attendant be disciplined if he/she chooses not to utilize the self notification function.

Also, if there is more than one change made on the same pairing, at your option, you may self notify for one modification but not the next. If you choose not to self notify Crew Scheduling is obliged to call you, as they are required to do now.

Fraternally yours,

Kate Romanausky
