CONTINENTAL FLIGHT ATTENDANT SNOWSTORM UPDATE

Early this morning it came to the unions attention that last night, due to the snowstorm in EWR, the company had opened a 777 for flight attendants to sleep on and were possibly considering and had told some of the flight attendants this was a legal crew rest for both line holders and reserves.

Your General Chairpersons immediately contacted the company to address this gross misinterpretation.

Never under any circumstance would your union consider sleeping in a seat on an aircraft to be considered a legal crew rest.

Although the company has assured the union that this did not occur we encourage our members to document in detail and file reports or grievances with their local reps over any discrepancies.

In solidarity,

Brent Thompson                      Ernie Dominguez
